

Revealing Shadows

What can you see in the shadows on the wall?

Look at the shadow figures on the wall and compare them with the form of the white moving sculpture.

By using a point light source you can create very sharp shadows on the wall. Due to this central projection the shadows will be taller than the actual object. Only the contours of the objects are projected onto the wall. The depth or threedimensionality is lost during that process.